Gamma Solutions offer the new Cisco 600 Series Access Point

Melbourne May 12, 2011 – Gamma Solutions are proud to announce the release of the new Cisco Aironet 600 Series OfficeExtend Access Point. This new Access Point can extend the 802.11n wireless coverage to the home tele-working environments.

The 600 series Access Point has been purposely designed for the tele-working environment and as a result delivers the speed of the 802.11n with 2.4GHz and 5GHz RF band support. By utilising this Access Point there are benefits to both the business as well as the tele-worker.

These benefits include the reduced setup time with simplified IT provisioning, increased productivity and reduced costs by extending voice to the home wirelessly or via a wired Ethernet port as well as simultaneous dual-band support which helps avoid congestion caused by home devices all in a slim design for convenient desktop placement.

“With the use of the Cisco Aironet 600 series OfficeExtend access points, companies now have more flexibility regarding the physical location of where an employee’s work can be performed. Gone are the days where staff members are required to be in the office in order to complete their work.” said Gamma Solutions’ National Sales Manager Paul Fleming.
