HONEYWELL DOLPHIN 70e BLACK

Melbourne March 7th 2013, Gamma Solutions introduces the Honeywell Dolphin 70e Black an enterprise hybrid device for field professionals.

The new Honeywell Dolphin 70e Black is a pocket-sized smart device which allows professionals in field-based work environments to scan and capture data as well as access the internet. It features a ruggedized package that will withstand drops, submersion in water with up to 12 hours of battery life. The Dolphin 70e Black is sleeker and lighter than a typical automatic identification and capture (AIDC) industrial device, but tougher than a consumer-grade phone.

Field service professionals can go from the warehouse to the job site and provide better, faster service due to the enhanced communication capability of the smart device.

A nurse in a hospital can downsize from carrying a phone, pager and scanner to a single device that goes from triage to office. For retail workers, the device can access product information, look at inventory or be used to call another employee inside or outside the store for assistance. The Dolphin 70e Black is targeted to meet the needs of the growing mobile workforce, which is projected to reach 1.3 billion by 2015.
